Academic discipline:
"Sociology of Law"

Code and name of specialty	6-05-0421-01 Jurisprudence
Training course	1
Semester of training	2
Number of class hours	26
Lectures	18
Seminar classes	8
Practical classes	-
Laboratory classes	-
The form of intermediate certification (credit/differential credit/exam	credit
Number of credits	2
Competencies to be formed	Mastering the academic discipline "Sociology of Law" should ensure the formation of specialized competencies: to apply fundamental knowledge about the state and law in law-making and law enforcement activities; to use modern methodology of cognition of the phenomena of legal reality

Summary of the content of the academic discipline:

"Sociology of Law" is an academic discipline that aims at students acquiring the necessary knowledge about law as a socially determined and socially active phenomenon and process. It provides for the study of the nature of the interaction of law with other social phenomena and processes; the identification of social functions of law; the definition of the social mechanism of law and its elements; the study of factors and conditions that have a positive or negative impact on the implementation of legal provisions in practice, and, accordingly, the determination of the social effectiveness of law; development of methodology and methodology of specific empirical studies of legal phenomena, etc. Mastering the discipline allows you to learn how to predict the consequences of the adoption of regulatory legal acts and the analysis of law enforcement practice, analyze law-making and law enforcement practices, highlighting those acts that do not meet the objective needs of the development of society.